Trading as JF Nuclear Limited

Skilled CNC Lathe Operator

Machinist required by JFRH based at the Malton site in North Yorkshire for the production of precision parts, on manual and CNC machines – mainly in stainless steel.

The work is varied with small batch production being the normal operation. Experience of fitting/welding would be advantageous.

Manual machines are used for prototype manufacture and for some final operations on production assemblies.

Training would be given if required for any aspects of CNC operations.

The site operates with a double shift system
